Interested in providing the latest amenity for your employees?
Looking to provide your workers with the ultimate convenience?

The future of DVD rentals is at your finger tips. ELO Media proudly introduces DVmatic – a fully automated DVD rental machine that operates 24/7. It is as easy as using an ATM and allows movie lovers to choose from hundreds of movies at a touch of a button.

What is DVmatic All About?

DVmatic machines are essentially fully automated video stores. They offer customers the ability to rent, purchase and return movies with a touch of a button. Utilizing an easy to use interface, customers will simply select a movie, swipe their credit card and rent or purchase a movie. Returning is even simpler. There are no forms to fill, no cash to deal with and no additional employees.

DVmatic machines are all connected to one central network which allow owners to remotely operate the system, manage inventory, produce reports and change prices, rental periods as well as implement different marketing promotions and more, all from any PC connected to the internet. Customers can access the kiosks on-line, see what's in stock and reserve movies for later pick up. The system enables customers to rent and return movies from a network of machines providing the easiest and quickest access to their favorite new releases. It is all about speed and convenience.
